TAYLOR MADE GLASS OPERATION EXPANDS CAPACITY

TEMPLEMORE, COUNTY TIPPERARY, IRELAND – Jan. 28, 2016 – Taylor Made Group announces that they have further expanded their glass manufacturing capacity by refurbishing and upgrading an additional flat glass furnace at one of their European facilities, Taylor Made Glass & Systems in Ireland.

“This investment was needed to satisfy increased demand in the marine and off-highway glass business,” said Eric Wagner, director of business development for Taylor Made Glass & Systems.

The reconditioned flat glass furnace has a range of capabilities, including the ability to produce finished, tempered, tong-free product, economically, in low to high volumes.

“By making this capital investment, our corporate headquarters has ensured that Taylor Made will continue to keep up with market demand and remain the market leader in marine glazing products,” said Wagner.
